

Christian König

Germany

Current:

- Managing Director of the Association of Private Bausparkassen in Berlin, Germany and the European Federation of Building Societies in Brussels, Belgium. His scope of work includes the evaluation of legislative proposals in the field of banking, contract and consumer protection law, as well as housing policy of the European Union as well as of other German regulatory and legislative institutions. He is a regular member in expert groups at the EU level, for example the Forum Group on mortgage credit and the CFR-Network on European Contract Law of the European Commission to name a few.
- Registered German attorney admitted to the bar.
- He regularly publishes books, articles and reviews in German and international journals on German and EU mortgage and consumer credit law and is a frequent speaker at several international conferences throughout the world.

Past:

- Head of Legal Affairs for the Association of Private Bausparkassen in Berlin
- Registered Head of Office of the Brussels office of the German Bausparkassen and the European Federation of Building Societies
- Before joining the European Federation of Building Societies, Christian König worked for several law firms in Bonn, Cologne and Stockholm and for the German Thai Chamber of Commerce in Bangkok.

Education:

- He studied law in Germany, France, Austria and Sweden and holds a degree in German law, a French diploma degree in comparative law and a Master of European Law.